“ Hey Pampa, I miss you more than words. Craziest part... even after 6 years I still expect your phone call. It still doesn't feel like your gone. I can only hope that means there is something after this. That you are there waiting, watching and ready to whoop me at cribbage. I still see you out of the corner of my eye, or smell you.... and I think that's why it doesn't feel like your gone. Why I have so much hope that there is something after this...somewhere you're waiting for me to tell you all about everything that's going on. I love you to the moon and back. Love, Mush
