

Leslie Ruth Lightfall

December 26, 1949 - August 14, 2019

Leslie traveled the world, using singing, chanting, sacred geometry and ceremony to plant deep energetic roots into the Earth in different locations.

These "roots" allow the humans that visit those areas to more easily access the energetic information that is flowing directly from the core of the Earth. Leslie's passion was to inspire people to consciously reconnect themselves deeply with the Earth and to their own spiritual essence - and to network and share with each other about different ways they use sounding, singing and chanting to do this. She held the vision for a global network of sound circles - individuals and groups of people singing and listening to the Earth, connecting to each other heart-to-heart around the world.

She worked primarily in New Zealand since Dec. 2004, with a trip to Iceland in 2009 and periodic trips to the Hawaiian Islands. In May and June of 2013 she traveled to Easter Island (Rapa Nui), San Pedro de Atacama and the volcanoes of the Andes in Chile, and Lake Titicaca in Peru singing and listening to the Earth and Ancient Ones of each place. In August she communed with the humpback whales in Tonga.

Short videos are available on YouTube in which Leslie shares some ways to listen for the Earth's Song and better understand how Mama Earth communicates with us. She created the Earth's Gifts series in 2011 and the Earth Shift Meditations video series in 2012 while living in her van in New Zealand. In these videos she tells the stories of how she was shown to work co-creatively with the Ancient Ones and with the Earth energies.

Leslie practiced her EarthSong energy work on the Big Island of Hawaii.

Interacting with the sacred places of this island helped her to develop experience the concept of Vibrational Gardens first hand. Vibrational Gardens is featured in the third High Tide Trilogy screenplay: A Whale of a Heart. The Trilogy of movies was inspired by communion with the whales during her 2013 trip to Tonga.

Academically, Leslie earned a BA in Mathematics, a teaching credential, and an MA in Consciousness Studies/Expressive Arts.

"The most important training for this sound work, however, has come from Gaia herself while spending years living alone out in wild places in nature in New Zealand, listening to Earth and communing with the Ancient Ones and other multi-dimensional beings and energies who now walk with me and sing through me." - Leslie Lightfall

“ I feel sure Leslie has moved into the realm where she can work most effectively. No doubt those who knew her personally will miss her though.

“ I first met Leslie in the 1990s in Olympia Washington, and she would call me sometimes when she was about to change her location or focus. I have felt through her art, videos and songs, a deep and uplifting connection with the earth through the high energy places that she visited. I honor the integrity with which she pursued her purpose of planetary healing. I felt sad when I heard of her death, so I went to her website and listened to a few songs. it was as though her soul was present with me - whether or not she is in physical form didn't matter. I also feel as though she is with entities in a place that feels like home to her, and that she is continuing her healing work.

“ I first meet Leslie when she rang me up back in 2012 as she camped south of Dunedin NZ and we had lots of talks over the years. I loved her work, her divine voice and songs, her presence. she was so grounded and such a divine Being, She gave so much just by being her. I know she is in the most beautiful place now, she showed me on the inner planes, but still on the physical she is sadly missed. it was a privilege to know her and sending so much love and blessings of peace within to all her family and friends. I know she hasn't stopped and is assisting from the higher realms now. Thank you Leslie for coming to Earth and sharing your love and divine self with us all and bridging the natural world and ancients ones with us all. In the one heart all my Love Soluntra

“ I met Leslie at a workshop in Dunedin, New Zealand some years ago, and often reconnected with her when she returned here. She was such a beautiful soul, and one of the bravest people I've ever met. I will miss her but I know she has gone to a place of joy and light. Heartfelt sympathy to her family.
