We Love You Forever

John 16:20

I know you are sad, because today I have left you, but I tell you that only those who are forgotten die, so I will never die. For I will always live in the hearts of those who love me. And remember that Jesus the Savior taught us that blessed are those with an honest and clean heart, since only we will see God the creator. That is why I tell you, live as the savior has taught us, because the Kingdom of the Father awaits us, and although I have gone ahead first, I hope to see you there. Amen.
